★ THE EDITOR ★

This is a full screen editor which operates just like a word processor. It can be used to edit assembler source code, BASIC programs, or letters and documents. Features include: 40 or 80 column display, move cursor by character, line or page. Insert mode. Overwrite mode. Forward and backward delete. Set tabs. String find and replace. Powerful block manipulation commands - move, copy and delete.Print text. Print block. Load text. Save all or part of text. Catalogue files. Add and remove line numbers.

★ THE ASSEMBLER ★

Standard ZILOG mnemonics with many extra commands and directives. Assemble to memory or file. Nested conditional assembly. Full 80 column tabulated listing. Labels can be any length, all characters significant. Expression evaluation. Symbol table dump.

★ MIXING MACHINE CODE AND BASIC ★

Assembler source code can be entered as part of a BASIC program. Use the command ASSEMBLE in a program, and the code can be assembled, run and tested from BASIC.
